

INNES UP FOR MAYOR

The People's Party Nominates Him Last Night.

M'BRIDE FOR SUPERIOR JUDGE

The Balance of the Ticket Straight-Keep-Out-of-the-Ditch Men. The Proceedings.

PEOPLES' PARTY TICKET.

For Mayor..... William P. Innes
Clerk..... John B. Greenwood
Treasurer..... Joseph W. Welton
Comptroller..... George L. Beamer
Board of Review..... Ralph Treat
Marshal..... John Wickham
Judge of Superior Court..... James E. McBride

Ralph Treat, chairman of the people's party city committee, reported for order at 8 o'clock, in Friedrich's music hall, with a full house present. He explained certain discrepancies in the published list and called W. P. Innes as temporary chairman. Mr. Treat counseled order and said all would be treated fairly. John B. Greenwood was chosen secretary.

A committee on credentials was appointed, consisting of Ralph Treat, W. A. Cowles, Frank De Baar, H. J. Gervens and Peter De Bakker.

Committee on permanent organization and order of business: W. W. Hensler, J. W. Sherwood, G. W. Wightman, F. M. Sherman, John Hazelgrans.

Committee on resolutions: W. A. Cowles, J. E. McBride, George Thomas, C. C. Howell, Frank Camp.

After a five minute recess, the committee on credentials reported.

The committee on organization and order reported in favor of making the unanimous prevailed, although Mr. Gilberg positively declined. He again stated that he would not run for the office, so another ballot was taken. John Wickham's name was offered and the vote resulted: Betterly 13, Wickham, 20. The ballot was made formal and unanimous.

George Thomas then nominated Alderman Gervens for mayor. W. A. Cowles nominated William P. Innes.

Mr. Innes said he had had enough of running for office. He had been supposed to have been killed last fall. His death had been attributed to various causes, but the causes all existed to some extent in the democratic party.

Somebody suggested that E. B. Dike-man had become converted to people's party principles and might be nominated.

John B. Greenwood nominated Gen. W. P. Innes as a man in full sympathy with the people's principles.

Mr. McBride moved that it be the sense of the meeting that Gen. W. P. Innes be unanimously nominated, provided he would accept, and that a committee be sent to his residence to ascertain whether he would accept.

The motion prevailed and Messrs. Gervens and Robinson were dispatched to visit General Innes.

Frank De Baar nominated James E. McBride as judge of the superior court. John Sherwood nominated C. C. Howell, but his ward, the eleventh, voted blank. The result was: McBride, 32; blank, 8. McBride's vote was made unanimous.

The following were designated as the city committee: First ward, Frank De Baar; second ward, Jacob Tazelaar; third ward, Peter De Bakker; fourth ward, Michel Rietmiller; fifth ward, J. E. McBride; sixth ward, H. J. Gervens; seventh ward, W. W. Hensler; eighth ward, Frank M. Sherman; ninth ward, W. A. Cowles; tenth ward, Julius Faber; eleventh ward, John Sherwood; twelfth ward, Frank Sebring.

McBride's Eloquence.

While waiting for the negotiations with General Innes, Mr. McBride was called on for a speech. He said he had consented to the nomination because he had heard of a more to procure Burlington's endorsement. He said the convention that there was not democratic money enough in Grand Rapids to buy him off. When he had stood by the working men in the street car strike last year, he had been told that he was a traitor to the people's party. He said he was not a traitor to the people's party. He said he was not a traitor to the people's party. He said he was not a traitor to the people's party.

Bound to Stay Right. The committee on resolutions reported the following:

Resolved, that the people's party of the city of Grand Rapids in city convention assembled, that no person be nominated as a candidate of the party for any office who is not a member of the people's party, and that any known friend of union labor who is not a member of the people's party shall not be nominated unless he receives at least two-thirds of the votes cast for the office for which he is presented; and it is further

Resolved, that in case any nominee of this convention shall refuse to accept such nomination or withdraw therefrom, the city committee shall forthwith fill such vacancy only by the selection of a known member of the people's party, and they are hereby strictly forbidden to induce any candidate of any other party in place of any candidate of this convention who shall so withdraw or refuse to accept; also,

Resolved, that we reaffirm our allegiance to the people's party and our adherence to the principles thereof as laid down in the Chicago platform, and that we call upon the industrial masses to rally to the support of our ticket.

Nominations for Mayor. It was decided that the ballots of each ward be cast by the chairman thereof.

No nomination being forthcoming for mayor Jacob Tazelaar moved that an informal ballot be taken on mayor. Frank De Baar solemnly objected to voting in the dark. Mr. Tazelaar said he had a candidate in mind, but he does not bring him before the convention for fear that he would withdraw.

Ralph Treat moved to proceed to nominate the best officer on the list, pending the coming up of some candidate for mayor. The chair ruled this out of order. Wallace Watson appealed from the decision of the chair, but the chair was sustained. Mr. McBride then moved to postpone the nomination for another day. The other officers were disposed of, which prevailed.

An informal ballot on clerk being ordered, Frank Sherman nominated John B. Greenwood. McBride seconded the nomination, whereupon the people's party mailed action on at the pole more heartily than on any other. Jacob Tazelaar nominated Joseph W. Welton. The result was forty-three votes for Greenwood.

J. W. Welton was nominated for treasurer by W. A. Cowles.

George L. Beamer was nominated for comptroller by Alderman Gervens. He was announced as a seventh ward man, but the delegates from that ward said they didn't know him. It was decided, however, that Alderman Gervens's nomination should stand, and it did. Beamer got there unanimously.

Ralph Treat was nominated for member of the board of review by J. E. McBride. The vote was evidently not going to be unanimous and Treat withdrew.

The call of the ward was again proceeded with, though Treat persistently declared he would not run unless unanimously nominated. The result was thirty-seven votes cast, all for Treat, and the action was then made unanimous.

Other Nominations. Charles A. Gilberg was nominated by George Thomas for marshal. Frank Camp having declined, John W. Sherwood was nominated. E. Betterly, till long got 26, Betterly 4.

A motion to make the nomination unanimous prevailed.

FOR AUGUST RENTZ.

A Call Upon Labor Union Men to Help Him.

The newspaper fraternity can always be counted on to assist those whom the hand of poverty or illness rests upon.

The young man August Rentz, and his noble sister, Minnie, to whose benefit the editors of the various newspapers, the printers of typographical union, and quite a number of charitable inclined people outside the craft, have done what they could, and given most generously to this most worthy case. But much remains to be done to place this sick and unfortunate young man in circumstances both safe and comfortable, and it would be well for the various labor organizations to do what they can. Men, brothers, help the sick, the unfortunate, the helpless, and in a like manner you will surely be remembered by those who see and appreciate your gifts. The amount so far given by the editors and printers amount to $50.75.

COLLIDED IN A FOG.

A Collision at Comstock Park—C. W. Miner Injured.

A rear end collision occurred on the G. R. & I. track at Comstock park last evening, by which C. W. Miner, 60 years old, a stock dealer of Albany, Ill., was so badly crushed that he may die from the result of his injuries. A passenger train on the G. R. & I. road crashed into the rear of a C. & W. M. freight train and Mr. Miner, who was the only passenger in the caboose, was badly injured. His nose was broken and his scalp was raised for a space of several inches. His back was severely wounded, and his right leg, which was a serious nature. No bones were broken, but his condition was thought to be serious. A brakeman on the caboose, jumped and saved himself. The injured man was brought to the city by a returning passenger, and he was taken to the U. S. A. home in the city ambulance, where his injuries were attended by Drs. Joy and Griswold. At midnight he was reported resting easily and the doctors thought he would recover. Nobody else was injured.

The freight train left the union depot at 1:40, but as it made many stops on the east side to pick up cars it did not reach the station at Mill Creek until ten minutes before the passenger train, which left the union depot at 5:30. The rear end of the freight stood in the enclosure at Comstock park when the crash came. At this time, probably about 6 o'clock, the heavy fog which almost obscured the electric light settled down, and it was owing to the thick and impenetrable fog that the accident occurred.

FRANK GRANELLO IS DEAD.

The Well-Known Business Man Died Last Night.

Frank Granello, for sixteen years a well-known merchant tailor of this city, died last night at 10:45 at his home, No. 175 North Prospect street. His death was caused by a cancerous tumor. He was taken sick last Christmas while on a visit to his daughter, Sadie Granello, in Boston. He had been confined to his home ever since. The physicians told him that the tumor would prove fatal and some weeks ago he assigned his business to the Michigan Trust company to be closed up.

Mr. Granello was born in Norfolk, Va., and was 62 years old. Most of his early life was spent in Philadelphia. He came here in 1877. He served in the late war as captain of company I, Twenty-Third Pennsylvania volunteers and was a member of the G. A. R., and a Mason. He leaves his wife and one daughter. He was an adherent of the seventh day adventist faith, and a man highly honored by the community. The funeral will be held on Sunday under masonic auspices.

HE LOST HIS TEMPER.

The Little Man Who Tackled a Banana Peel.

Justice of the poetic variety overtook a banana peel fender on lower Broadway yesterday afternoon. He was a puffy, red faced, bloated looking man, with bluish eyes, a pink necktie and other evidences of total depravity. The bananas which furnished him with ammunition he had purchased of a perambulating peddler at the corner of Park place and Broadway at about 4 o'clock. Munching them one by one he walked along by City Hall park and scattered destruction as he went.

Just behind him walked a nervous looking little man whose black hat and white checker indicated that he was a clergyman, an indication which was borne out by subsequent events. Presently the little man stepped on one of the fender's banana peels. His feet soared heavenward, and he landed with a force that fairly shook the ground. With an air of Christian resignation he arose and made a feeble endeavor to remove some of the mud which he had collected in his fall. Then he proceeded, with the expression of one who would rub himself if there weren't a crowd around. He had walked but a few rods when another banana peel loomed before him. The little man picked it up gingerly and looked about him. Just then the fender in front dropped a third peel. Without a moment's hesitation the minister hurried forward until he caught up with him. Holding up the deadly skin before him he said in a carefully modulated tone:

"I believe you dropped something, sir."

"Humph," replied the fender, "from the way you look you dropped something too."

The little man's face fairly bristled with violently repressed profanity.

"Look you, sir," he cried, "I am a minister of the gospel, sir, a clergyman, sir, and I don't want to say anything unbecoming of my cloth, sir. But I want to ask you, sir, what in heaven's name you mean by throwing your confounded banana peels under my feet, sir?" He waved the aforementioned peel violently about his head as he spoke.

The red faced man glanced contemptuously over the minister's slight figure.

"What you goin to do about it?" he sneered. "Praps you'd take a contract to do me up?"

By this time a few people had gathered about, and the little man noting this lowered his voice, but there was an ominous set expression about his face as he said, "I want you to make an apology, here and now."

"Well, sir, I will not strike you," said the clergyman, his voice unsteady with anger, "because I do."

"Because you ain't man enough," sneered the bigger man. "Because you don't—S-p-r-e-t-t. P-h-o-o-e-e-w. P-r-e-e-r-t. P-h-t."

With a rapid movement the little man had jammed the banana peel into the big man's mouth and rubbed it vigorously in.

"How do you like that?" he inquired, with evident and triumphant satisfaction in the performance. The only answer was a vicious frown, which the little man doled. Then and there his consciousness scruples vanished, and he struck out with the vigor and accuracy of a champion.

The blow took the banana peel fender under the chin, and over he went as the minister had gone over a few moments before. There was no

GENTS—I acknowledge receipt this day of draft No. 15,900 for $5,000 in full payment of claim against your company, on account of accident policy held by my deceased husband, Wm. H. Burleson. My husband was written by your firm on the 20th of January, 1893, and on the 9th of February was instantly killed in a rear end collision on the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad near Manton, Mich.

It is now but sixty days since you issued the policy and your settlement has been prompt and satisfactory. I take this opportunity of thanking you for the very prompt and courteous manner in which you have conducted the settlement of this claim, and will most certainly call the attention of my friends to the merits of your company.

Respectfully yours, more light left in him, and when no arose it was only to slink around a corner.

The crowd, which was not large, for the whole affair had taken less than a minute, expressed emphatic approval of the clergyman's performance. He looked rather ashamed, however, as he proceeded up Broadway.
